BANK ROBBERY.

Robbers Stated the Astonished Bankers in the Face-A Wrong Move on Their Part Meant Instant Death.

TACOMA, Wash., Sept. 26.—The bold bank robbery committed at this place, the robbers went so neatly and coolly executed the work they had so adroitly planned out and their deed was perpetrated in such a bold manner that the citizens and officials were too much startled to give hasty pursuit of the robbers.

It was pay day at the Roslyn mine.
Forty thousand dollars arrived from Tacoma in the morning.

The robbers probably supposed the money was kept in the bank, but it was taken to the company's office.
They executed their plan in a manner which would have done credit to the James boys. Cashier Abernathy was writing when the first robber entered and turned the whole thing upside down.

The second robber, a stout, dark man, found himself facing a 45-caliber Colt's revolver. Dr. Lyons, who had entered just after the high-waymen, turned to go out, but dashed against a pair of Colts in the hands of the second robber. A third condemned entered, picked up Cashier Abernathy's revolver and knocked him down with it. He rose, his head streaming with blood, and was told to keep quiet if he wanted to live. The third man then walked to the door, took out the coin and bills, showed the money in a canvas bag and threw it over his shoulder. The three men then went out, joining the two others, who had been stationed so as to guard all approaches.

A. A. Frazier, assistant cashier, who was on duty when the robbers entered, made for the bank, but one of the robbers stopped his progress by placing a bullet in his hip. A colored man was shot in the leg and several others had narrow escapes. One of the robbers had a revolver, a small knife and a large piece of rope. The robbers were in a hurry and did not take time to be killed.

It is believed they cannot escape, as the peculiar topography of the country will aid the officers. The manager of Abrams, Sutpe & Co. arrived at Roslyn in the evening and immediately offered a reward of $1,000 for the apprehension of the robbers. This is supplemented by an offer of a similar amount by Cashier Abernathy. The robbers were dressed as cow boys, and showed themselves to be expert horsemen and gunners.

SOMERBY ON TOP.

The Iron Hall Re-Elected Him Supreme Justice.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 26.—The anxious members of the Iron Hall are not inspired with confidence by the secretive policy in which the officers are perfecting the reorganization. The hall has 160 persons present Saturday, and of these 25 were delegates.

The doors were carefully guarded, the proceedings absolutely secret, and even the members can get no information of what is going on. The hall has been re-elected him supreme justice.

A. H. Somerby, president of the hall, has been elected supreme justice. A. H.
Hosmer, of Baltimore, supreme accountant; Joseph L. Harris, supreme cashier; Dr. Baker, of Philadelphia, supreme medical director. The financial plan of the new order is to pay $1,000 in seven years for $400, or $300 for $225.

PECK SURRENDERS.

The New York State Labor Commissioner Positively Refuses to Talk.

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 26.—State Labor Commissioner Charles F. Peck and his stenographer, Rogers, appeared in the court of sessions, Saturday, in answer to a bench warrant. The warrant was issued by Judge C. C. Johnson, and demanded the appearance of Peck and Rogers in connection with the case of the Peck brothers, who were charged with the murder of a man named Somerby.

The court granted the application and admitted both men to bail in the sum of $2,000 each. The sureties were in the sum of $1,000 each.

Peck declines to say anything for publication, but seemed to be in the best of humor, and not at all anxious over the result of the inquiry. All three of the cases—one in the police court, one in the supreme court and one in the criminal court—will be tried together. Peck is still asserted by the attorneys of the bureau that Peck will be able to produce every paper called for when the trial comes off.

St. Mary's Tell Suspended.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—The following circular has been issued under the signature of O. L. Spaulding, assistant secretary of the treasury department:

"Circular No. 161, of September 10, 1892, relative to tolls on freight shipped in certain cases to ports in the United States via St. Mary's Falls canal, is hereby suspended, pending further investigation."

An Antislavery Organist.

BREMEN, Ind., Sept. 26.—Sunday morning the services were being held at the German Lutheran church in the city, large snake began crawling out of the city, a pipe organ, George Wamborgs, the organist, was playing, when he was horror-stricken to see the reptile crawling out of the organ. He hurried to the door to close the organ, but the snake, taking his pocket handkerchief, seized the snake and threw it to the door.
Hardly a person in the large audience was aware of the strange visitor's presence until the snake was seen. The snake was a large snake, about two feet in length, black and white spotted.

Trains Still on Ground.

PRESTONBURG, Pa., Sept. 26.—Adj. Gen.
Greenland, after a conference with Gen.
Wiley, who is in command of the troops at Prestonburg, has decided that it would be unwise to remove all the military at this time. The sixteenth regiment will remain on duty as long as there is any danger to life or property.

Chancellor's Ad.

James W. Wiley, chancellor of the court, has issued the following advice to the public:

"The court has decided that it would be unwise to remove all the military at

Tariff-Taxation Beyond the Necessities of Economical Government

In Times of Peace Unjustifiable. He Says:
"Tariff Reform Is Our Purpose."
—The Force Bill, The Currency, Pensions, Nicaragua Canal.

GRAY GABLES, Sept. 27.—Hon. Grover Cleveland has given out his letter of acceptance of the democratic presidential nomination. He says:

"Gentlemen—In responding to your formal notification of my nomination to the presidency by the national democracy, I hope I may be permitted to say at the outset, that continued reflection and observation have confirmed me in my adherence to the opinions which have been so plainly and publicly declared touching the questions involved in the canvass.

"This is the time, above all others, when these questions should be considered in the light afforded by a sober apprehension of the principles upon which the government is based and a clear understanding of the relation it bears to the people for whose benefit it was created. We shall thus be supplied with a test by which the value of any proposition relating to the maintenance of the property rights of the people can be ascertained, and by which the justice and honesty of every political question can be judged. If doctrines or theories are presented which do not satisfy this test, loyal Americanism will pronounce them false and mischievous.

"The protection of the people in the exclusive use and enjoyment of their property and earnings concededly constitutes the special purpose and mission of the free government.
This design is so inherent in the structure of our plan of rule that failure to protect the citizen in such use and enjoyment, or their unjustifiable diminution by the government itself, is a betrayal of the people's trust.

"We have, however, undertaken to build a great nation upon a plan especially our own. To maintain it and to furnish through its agency, the means for the accomplishment of national objects, the American people are required through federal taxation to surrender part of their earnings and income.
"Tariff legislation presents a familiar form of federal taxation. Such legislation results as surely in a tax upon the property of the people as if the tax were paid directly into the hands of the tax-gatherer. We feel the burden of these taxes too palpably to be persuaded by any sophistry that they do not exist, or are paid by foreigners.

"Such taxes, representing a diminiution of the property rights of the people, are only justifiable when laid and collected for the purpose of maintaining our government, and furnishing the means for the accomplishment of its legitimate purposes and functions.
The tariff, therefore, is a tax upon the property of the people, and the operation of a tariff for revenue, if it is to be justified, must be shown to be a necessary condition of the maintenance of our government, or of the accomplishment of its legitimate purposes and functions.

"The theory of tariff legislation manifestly enjoin strict economy in public expenditures, and their limitation to legitimate public uses, inasmuch as it exhibits as absolute extortion any ex-action by way of taxation, from the substance of the people, beyond the necessities of a careful and proper administration of government.

"Opposed to this theory, the dogma is now boldly presented that tariff taxation is justifiable for the express purpose and intent of thereby promoting the interests and enterprises of the country. It is so clearly contrary to the spirit of our constitution, and so directly encourages the disturbance, by selfishness and greed, of patriotic sentiment, that its statement would rarely be made by any man of honor and integrity. It is a statement which has already been indignantly repudiated by the safe landmarks of principle. Never have honest desire for the National growth, patriotic devotion to country and sincere regard for those who toil been so betrayed to the support of a policy so manifestly unjust and unsound.

"In its behalf, the plea that our infant industries should be fostered did service until discredited by our stalwart growth; then followed the argument of a terrible war, which made the people heedful of the opportunities for ulterior schemes afforded by their willing and patriotic payment of unprecedented tribute; and now, after a long period of peace, when our overburdened countrymen ask for relief and a restoration to a fuller enjoyment of their property and earnings, they are met by the claim that tariff taxation for the sake of protection is an American system, the continuance of which is necessary in order that high wages may be paid to our workmen, and a home market be provided for our farm products.

"These pretenses should no longer deceive. The truth is that such a system is directly antagonized by every principle of justice and fairness of commerce, and is a manifestly unjust policy. It is also true that, while our workmen and farmers can, the least of all our people, defend themselves against the harder home life which such tariff taxation increases, the workmen suffering from the importation and employment of pauper labor, instead of his professed friends, and seeking security for his interests in organized co-operation, still waits for a division of the advantages secured.

"The plea of a generous, self-sacrificing policy, which is a noble aim, is being used to the detriment of the wages, while the farmer is learning that the prices of his products are fixed in foreign markets, where he suffers from a competition invited and built up by the system he is asked to support.

"The struggle for unearned advantage at the doors of the government tramples on the rights of those who patience only upon assurances of American equality. Every governmental policy which encourages the importation of pauper labor, and which encourages the importation of money to debate, is a betrayal of the people's trust.

vantage at the doors of the government

which is the life of our republic; and we shall fail to reach our national destiny if greed and selfishness lead the way.

"Recognizing these truths, the national democracy will seek, by the application of just and sound principles, to equalize to our people the blessings due them from the government they support, to promote among our countrymen a closer community of interests cemented by patriotism and national pride, and to point out a fair field, where prosperous and diversified American enterprise may grow and thrive in the wholesome atmosphere of American industry, ingenuity and intelligence.

"Tariff reform is still our purpose.
Though we oppose the theory that tariff laws may be passed having for their object the granting of discriminational and unfair governmental aid to private ventures, we wage no exterminating war against any American interests. We believe a readjustment can be accomplished, in accordance with the principles we profess, without disaster or demolition. We believe that the advantage of free raw material should be accorded to our manufacturers, and we contemplate a fair and careful distribution of necessary tariff burdens, rather than the precipitation of free trade.

"We anticipate with calmness the misrepresentation of our motives and purposes, instigated by a selfishness which seeks to hold in unrelenting grasp its unfair advantage under present tariff laws.

"The administration and management of our government depend upon popular will. Federal power is the instrument of that will—not its master.
Therefore, the attempts of the opposition of democracy to interfere with and control the suffrage of the states through federal agencies develops a design, which no explanation can mitigate, to reverse the fundamental and safe relations between the people and their government. Such an attempt can not fail to be regarded by the people as proof of a bold determination to secure the ascendancy of a

FRANK YATES, KX, SEPT. 15, 1892.

To the people of the 20th Judicial District. Several weeks ago I received the Democratic nomination for Commonwealth's Attorney in said district by the unanimous endorsement of every county in the district, for which I am truly thankful.

Being the present Commonwealth's Attorney for the old 13th District, I am compelled to deny myself the pleasure of a personal canvass of the entire 20th District unless I neglect my official duties in the 13th. I have just got ten through a week's term in Bath, and am now engaged in the great case of Brookshire who foully murdered two faithful officers of Montgomery county, while in the discharge of official duty (pursuing a horse thief).

For six years I have stood to my post, contending for the rights of the people, and enforcement of law, soberly, honestly, and to the best of my ability. As to my ability and success as a prosecutor, I refer to all the officials, attorneys, jurors and people for and with whom I have labored for six years in all the counties in the 13th Judicial District, and of political or religious beliefs or affiliations. To you of the 20th District, who know me not, go ask of these; those who know me and the record I have made, if you are satisfied with my course, endorse it by your support.

I have opposed no one in order to make this race. I have been invited into the field by the nomination of the party to which I belong, and whose teachings I have kept from my youth up. It is but justice, under these circumstances, that you should stand by me as one man. To all who hold to a different doctrine, if you believe me to be worthy and qualified, I earnestly solicit your support, as men interested in the protection of lives, property and homes, as I am. I know the great responsibility of the office to which I aspire, and I appeal to all honest and fair minded men—although I may not be permitted to meet you between now and the 8th of November—to come out and vote for me, pledging to you six years' experience in dealing with criminals as Commonwealth's Attorney, the best of my life and all my powers in the prompt and faithful discharge of the duties of the office, in upholding the supremacy of the law, the abolition of crime, so far as in me lies, and thus increasing the security of your lives, your home and your property.

My courts will be in continuous session from now 'till near the election. Yet I hope to see many of you, but if I cannot I believe you to be too noble and generous a people to let my cause suffer at your hands while I am away, working for the interest of the people. Hoping these few lines, penned during adjournment of court, will furnish some excuse for my failure to come to see you all, and that my cause may meet with your approval, I am very sincerely yours, M. M. REDWINE.

Grover Cleveland's letter of acceptance has been given to the public. The Democrats are highly pleased with it. The Republicans are not, of course, because it advocates principles which would promote the interests of the majority of the people of the United States. It favors the masses and not the classes.

OUR NEIGHBORS. The Norfolk and Western railroad has been completed and the Logan Banner says, "We learn that the N. & W. is almost completed. The iron will be put on the Pigeon bridge this week; also that Wm. Gordon, of Birmingham, Alabama, has purchased the Warfield coal and salt property for $50,000."

It is expected to have an electric street car line between Catlettsburg and Ashland in operation by next January.

A Wife's Marble Statue. Mr. Jas. Hatcher, of Pikeville, Ky., whose young wife died about a year ago, only a short time after the marriage, has had a life-size statue of her produced in marble, and will place it at her grave as a monument. The piece of work cost $1000. The deceased Mrs. Hatcher was formerly Miss Octavia Smith, daughter of Jacob Smith, one of Pike county's wealthiest citizens. She was a most estimable young lady and her death fell heavily upon her devoted husband, who is a wealthy young man of about 35 years and one of the best citizens of his county. The idea of the monument is certainly a very unique one.

It is said that a railroad is to be built from Catlettsburg to Cave, which is gaining much reputation as a summer resort.

5 TON SCALES $60.00. JONES OF BINGHAMTON N. Y. says the freight.

Favorable to the Democrats.

The Presidential campaign continues to be unprecedently quiet. One after another of the dates set by the politicians for the outburst of enthusiasm has passed. At first they were waiting for Congress to adjourn, as the veriest tyro knows that it is impossible to rouse the country while Congress is in session. Then, when Congress did adjourn, they explained that the extraordinary heat was chilling the political impetuosity of the nation. Afterwards, it was the President's letter that we must wait for before the pent-up enthusiasm could break loose. Then, when at last every thing seemed propitious, the backwardness of the campaign was accounted for by the cholera scare. That has now passed away; but the politicians remind us that it is really absurd to expect imposing demonstrations of the immense interest of the people in the pending election until after the "crops are gathered in." When they are, we are now told, there will be terrible excitement. But we fear these successive adjournments are ominous, and that November will be upon us without a clearly developed political paroxysm being any where discernible. People act as if their minds were firmly made up, or as if they were highly indifferent, and resolved to remain so. All these indications certainly favor Democratic success. "Apathy" is an ancient foe of the Republicans, and as they are basing their hopes on a "scare" campaign, the obvious refusal of the campaign to scare is rather discouraging.—N. Y. Evening Post.

PEACH ORCHARD.

W. S. Howell came up from Cincinnati and paid "our" men Monday.

Mr. Black, of Cincinnati, the receiver of the G. W. M. & Co., was here last week. He has moved the general office from Ashland to this place.

A party of "youngsters" went over to "Hygia Springs" Sunday. That place was formerly known as the "old salt well."

The health of our village is improving. We are sorry that Sam Strachan has left our midst. In his absence we have lost a bright young man, whom every one respected. Any time Sam comes back here, he will receive a hearty welcome from all his old friends.

Col. G. S. Richardson was up from Ashland Tuesday of this week.

We are sorry to note the death of Mrs. James Brown, which occurred at Inez, Ky., Sept. 24. To the bereaved husband and children we extend our deepest sympathy. After a lingering illness of four months, Mrs. Lee Small departed this life Sept. 19, 1892. She was a devoted wife and mother. We, as a community, offer our sympathy to the heart-broken husband and children.

Dr. Berry is visiting the public schools at this place today.

Foreign Labor in a Protected Industry.

When the strike was inaugurated in the latter part of June 3,800 men went out—3,500 on account of a cut in their wages and the rest from sympathy. Of this number it is safe to say that there are but 2,500 left. About 150 of the old hands have returned to work from time to time, many of them among the most skilled workmen of the strikers, and several hundred others have left Homestead to seek employment elsewhere in iron and steel mills, while many have drifted into different kinds of work in the vicinity of Pittsburgh. A thousand of the strikers still in Homestead are Hungarians and Slavs, and of the remaining 1,500 fully 1,000 are Irishmen, Englishmen and Welshmen, who have not been in this country long enough to entitle them to the privilege of American citizenship. Of the 3,000 men who struck out but 800 are American citizens, native and adopted.—Chicago Tribune's Pittsburg Correspondence.

Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind. Gentlemen: I feel it my duty, as well as a pleasure, to publish, unsolicited, to the world the benefits received from Dr. Miles' Brain Tonic. I was stricken down with Heart Disease and complications, a rapid pulse varying from 90 to 140 beats per minute, a choking or burning sensation in the wind pipe, oppression in the chest, much pain in the region of the heart and below lower ribs, pain in the arms, shortness of breath, sleeplessness, weakness and general debility. The arteries in my neck would throb violently, the throbbing of my heart could be heard across a large room and would shake my whole body. I was so nervous that I could not hold my hand steady. I have been under the treatment of eminent physicians, and have taken gallons of Patent Medicines, without the least benefit. A friend recommended your remedies. I was cured by Dr. Miles' remedies. I have taken three bottles of your Brain Tonic and two bottles of Nervine. My pulse is normal, I have no more violent throbbing of the heart, I am a well man. I sincerely recommend every one with symptoms of Heart Disease to take Dr. Miles' Brain Tonic and Nervine and be cured. L. L. CARMER, Gypsum City, Kans.

The M. E. Conference certainly catered to the wants of its following here when it appointed Rev. J. S. Cox the pastor of the local church. He has a host of friends outside his charge at this place as well as in it, and all welcome him back.

A series of revival services was commenced at the M. E. Church last Monday evening, when Rev. J. W. Turner, of Louisville, preached one of the most impressive and eloquent sermons ever heard in Louisa. The meetings will be continued as long as is thought advisable.

KENTUCKY CONFERENCE

Of the M. E. Church, in Session at Louisa.

Friday forenoon was taken up with conference business. The subject of Freedman's Aid and Southern Education was on the program for the afternoon, but owing to a misunderstanding was finally appointed for Saturday afternoon. The congregation up to this time had been so large and so constantly growing that it was thought best to hold the evening's exercises in the court house. The Preachers' Relief Anniversary was the subject in hand, and interesting addresses were made by Bishop Foss, Dr. Hamilton and Amos Shinkle. The latter took away the congregation's breath by announcing that in the collection to be taken on that occasion he expected to see $1,200 raised. Much relief was afforded, however, by his statement that the liberal and faithful "John Smith," who always accompanies Mr. Shinkle, would give three dollars for every one dollar given by any one else. After all were allowed several opportunities to contribute the result was announced as $1,200, all of which goes to the Preachers' Relief fund.

Saturday afternoon Dr. Hamilton delivered an able address on the subject of Freedman's Aid. Though many of his hearers were not in sympathy with his subject, his eloquence captured them all. The court house was again used for the evening service and was crowded to its utmost capacity. Rev. J. W. Turner of Louisville, held the audience spell bound with his eloquence in a sermon of an hour's length.

Sunday morning the people filled the court house before the hour for service, all wanting to insure themselves a seat. A love feast was held and continued up till time for Bishop Foss' sermon. By this time the room was crowded and many were unable to get inside. To accommodate these the Bishop sent Rev. Grider over to the South Methodist church to preach. The Bishop's sermon was of course an able effort and a rare treat. Six demons were ordained before adjournment.

Sunday evening the house was again packed to hear Dr. Robinson, of Covington, who stands as one of the ablest men in the conference. Threatenings of an approaching storm had such an effect upon the congregation as to somewhat shorten the meeting.

Monday forenoon was taken up with the closing business of the conference, consisting principally of the reports of committees and the reading of the appointments. Following is a list of the ministers and their assignments:

CONFERENCE NOTES.

Bishop Foss makes an ideal presiding officer. He is very courteous, but his pleasant smile is formed by very firm lips. He is a thorough parliamentarian, and the way he headed off and figuratively sat down on a more than one "fresh" member was decidedly refreshing.

Dr. Spencer was a favorite with everybody. There was no looking at watches when he was on his feet or at the organ.

One of the Elders Ramey checked a flow of ill timed reminiscence at the preachers' love feast Sunday morning, and thereby earned the thanks of all in the Court House, save the speaker.

During the week ending last Monday 6719 chickens were eaten in this town.

The Bishop's Sunday morning sermon was a model of calm, dispassionate eloquent logic. It was listened to by the largest congregation ever preached to in Louisa.

Rev. Mr. Grider preached in the South church Sunday morning to the overflow from the Court House.

Rev. Mr. Turner, of Louisville, divides honors with the Bishop as an orator. Both his sermons were masterpieces of fervid, soul-reaching eloquence.

Some men have no idea of the eternal fitness of things. This was shown very clearly during one of the sessions of conference when a certain cleric was speaking to the question of allowing a brother a supernumerary relation. He urged among other reasons for granting the request that the brother stood out for the faith when it was not "safe" to do so. The speaker should know, and did know, that there never was a time in the history of Kentucky when it was unsafe to preach the doctrines of his church.

One of the delegates received a telegram informing him that he had been made the father of a boy baby, that it was named Cyrus Foss, and that mother and child were doing well. Whereupon the Bishop arose and said he appreciated the honor, and that he was also doing as well as could be expected.

The reports of the various secretaries showed a large decrease in membership and receipts during the year. The Bishop alluded to this, and earnestly exhorted the members to find out the cause, if possible, and use all proper means to make a better showing next year.

The usual hospitality of our people was cordially extended to the Conference, and it was appreciated.

One way of placating a brother who does not want to be taken from a good place and sent to an indifferent one, is to "leave him without work in order that he may attend one of our schools."

Amos Shinkle, alias "John Smith," of Newport, was present bodily, spiritually and financially. The expected Sunday morning train from Ashland failed to come, but the town was filled to overflowing by visitors from the country.

The Bishop's remarks just preceding his reading of the appointments were eminently fitting. If anything could make the disappointed ones satisfied with their lot it was the kindly sympathetic words addressed to them by their presiding officer.

Rev. Melbourn Hiner, who was transferred from the Kentucky Conference of the M. E. Church South to the West Virginia Conference of the same church and assigned to Louisa, arrived here last week, accompanied by his family. We feel certain that Mr. Hiner will not be long in becoming a prime favorite in Louisa. Not with his church alone but with our people generally. He is a gentleman of good address and genial manners, and makes a most favorable impression upon those with whom he is thrown in contact.

Mr. Hiner comes to Louisa from an excellent charge which he resigned simply to save the invalid wife of his predecessor the excitement and worry of a removal. He is a gentleman in the prime of manhood, active and hopeful, and we feel safe in predicting for the church consigned to his care a period of blessed prosperity.

Mr. Harmon Loar, who for a great number of years has lived five miles below this place on the West Virginia side of the river, died rather suddenly last Tuesday evening. His illness was of about a week's duration. Malarial fever and rheumatism were the diseases from which he was suffering. He was known as one of the best citizens of the community. His age was seventy-five years, and considering the fact that he was a cripple from his youth he apparently bore his years lightly. The burial took place yesterday in the family burial grounds. The deceased was an uncle of A. J. and P. H. Loar, of this place.

ANOTHER VICTIM.

Whiskey Gets in its Work Again, at the Expense of a Life.

The murder docket of Lawrence county gets a new case but not a new defendant. Samp Smith, against whose name on the docket has stood for several years a charge of murder, and who has been at liberty on bail, is again incarcerated upon the awful charge of homicide. John Chaffin a man against whom he probably had no grievance is the victim. On last Saturday evening constable Noah Hughes summoned Smith and four other men to join him in a search for Drew Compton, for whom he had a warrant. They went to John Jobe's house, on the head of Cat, where a dance was in progress, and found Compton, and he was arrested. Smith says that John Chaffin drew a revolver and pointed it at him (Smith) and that he instantly shot Chaffin. The ball took effect in the breast and caused almost instant death. Chaffin's friends claim that he had no weapon, not even a pocket knife, and that Smith had no cause for shooting him. However it may really be it seems certain that this crime, as most others, is chargeable to whiskey, as all the parties involved are said to have been drinking.

Smith surrendered to the officers and is in jail to await the examining trial which is set for to-day. The murder already standing against him is that of the Hammonds a few years ago, for which he was once sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary, but afterward secured a new trial and successive continuances.

After the last train departed Tuesday the few aged survivors of the numerous Chicken family of this vicinity met in solemn convocation in Milt Burns' barn. Mr. Shang High Rooster took the perch, and Mrs. Henny Brahma was made scratchetary. The venerable president then stated the object of the meeting to be the passing of resolutions expressive of their feelings concerning the late massacre of the young and tender members of the family. They had been ruthlessly slaughtered, and their mutilated carcasses had been roasted, fried, boiled and stewed and fed to men in black attire, and there was no Cochin China large enough to contain their denuded bones. He had therefore drawn up the following which he hoped would be adopted:

Resolved, That we shall ever foster feelings of regret and sorrow for our departed kindred, and that we can never hope to be Jolly again.

Resolved, That as we view our few remaining Cox and hens we sadly think of the untold number slain and ask ourselves, Howes that for high?

Resolved, That we post a copy of these resolutions on every Hill and Waldeck on last Wednesday learned that Agnes Underwood, who murdered Milford Brown at Catlettsburg last week, was in this vicinity and began a search for her. They rode nearly all day and in the evening found the object of their search at the house of John Doyle, a few miles out in the country. She was accompanied by Frank Fugitt. They procured a wagon and brought her to town. She had some severe knife wounds which almost disabled her from travelling. She is in prison and will be taken to Catlettsburg to-day. When arrested the woman had a false mustache and an outfit of men's clothing and her hair was closely cropped. She said she was just about ready to don the male attire when arrested. She acknowledges having done the killing and says a general row was in progress at the time. She says she is sorry Brown died and that she will be satisfied "if they don't break my neck." She was living on a boat and running a very disreputable place. Brown was a printer and went to the boat in company with some other young men.

LOUISA, KENTUCKY

A Murderess Captured.

Marshall DeRossett and John A. Waldeck on last Wednesday learned that Agnes Underwood, who murdered Milford Brown at Catlettsburg last week, was in this vicinity and began a search for her. They rode nearly all day and in the evening found the object of their search at the house of John Doyle, a few miles out in the country. She was accompanied by Frank Fugitt. When arrested the woman had a false mustache and an outfit of men's clothing and her hair was closely cropped. She said she was just about ready to don the male attire when arrested. She acknowledges having done the killing and says a general row was in progress at the time. She says she is sorry Brown died and that she will be satisfied "if they don't break my neck." She was living on a boat and running a very disreputable place. Brown was a printer and went to the boat in company with some other young men.
